

Nixon's Just Taking Things Easy

By FRANK CONNOR
Associated Press Writer

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — With major budget decisions behind him, President Nixon relaxed today at a beach estate in this desert resort community.

Accompanied by Mrs. Nixon and their daughter Tricia, the President flew by helicopter Sunday morning to the 100-acre vacation home of Walter H. Annenberg, U.S. ambassador to Britain.

Relaxation was Nixon's principal objective, although he brought along a briefcase filled with papers. Two key aides, Chief of Staff H. R. Haldeman and Appointments Secretary Dwight Chapin, are staying nearby.

Although Nixon continues to prepare for his Jan. 22 State of the Union message to Congress, he announced Saturday he had completed all major decisions on the budget he will send to Congress late in the month for the 1971 fiscal year that begins July 1.

The Palm Springs weather was pleasant and sunny but not appreciably warmer than in seaside San Clemente 100 miles west where Nixon has been spending most of his New Year's holiday in his own home.

The chief executive spent most of Sunday afternoon in the modern-style Annenberg home, which is reported to have more than 30,000 square feet of living space.

Mrs. Nixon sat by the pool while her husband was indoors watching the Kansas City Chiefs win the televised American Football League championship game from the Oakland Raiders 17-7.

The radio station is white-owned but has a predominantly Negro listening audience.

CHICAGO (AP) — A coroner's inquest into the fatal shooting of two Black Panthers in a police raid will open Tuesday.

The police, from the state's attorney's office, say the Panthers fired first when officers went with warrants to an apartment to search for illegal firearms. Eighteen weapons were seized, police reported.

The Panthers' lawyers say the police fired first and without provocation.

The case is the subject of a current investigation by the Civil Rights Division of the U.S. Department of Justice.

Fred Hampton, 21, chairman of the Illinois Black Panther party, and Mark Clark, 22, a party leader from Peoria, were killed in the raid Dec. 4.

Coroner Andrew J. Toman, a physician, has appointed a lawyer, Martin Gerber, 62, to preside over the inquest.

Such a move was called for by the Chicago Bar Association, Black Panther party lawyers and others.

Gerber presided over a coroner's inquest in 1961 that investigated a controversial case in which a policeman ultimately was sentenced to prison in the fatal shooting of two youths.

Gerber said he was willing to allow one television crew to film the proceedings, with the local stations each receiving access to the footage.

Coroner Toman said he would consider the idea.

Gerber said the inquest probably would last three days to a week, depending on the number of witnesses.

The coroner's jury does not rule on guilt or innocence but fixes medical cause of death and establishes whether a criminal act was committed.

The state's attorney's office has said the 14 police raiders would testify at the inquest.

Attorneys for seven Panthers allegedly in the apartment at the time of the shootings say their clients may not testify because of possible self-incrimination. They are charged with attempted murder and other crimes.

Gerber will serve without fee as special deputy coroner.

which led to the accident at treacherous Dike Bridge.

Kennedy escaped but Miss Kopechne was trapped in the car. By his own account in an emotional, nationally televised statement, the senator wandered in confusion back to the cottage, called his cousin Joseph F. Gargan and another close friend, attorney Paul Markham, from the party to dive for Miss Kopechne, then swam to Edgartown across the narrow ferry channel.

A week later, he pleaded guilty to leaving the accident scene. Boyle imposed a two-month sentence and suspended it.

An inquest—which is a fact-finding inquiry and not a trial—was ordered by Dist. Atty. Edmund S. Dins of New Bedford. First scheduled for early September, it was postponed when the Kennedy lawyers asked the Massachusetts Supreme Court to bar the press and to permit attorneys to cross-examine witnesses.

The high court consented to the press ban, but endorsed Boyle's decision to permit lawyers in the court room only when their clients are testifying—and then only to advise them of their constitutional rights.

Kennedy, his wife Joan, and their children Edward Jr. and Kara, went to Colorado Dec. 23 for a skiing holiday.

Kennedy returned to Washington Jan. 1 and arrived in Boston Saturday.

He traveled Sunday from Boston to his home in Hyannis Port across Nantucket Sound from the Vineyard. He decided to fly to Edgartown by private plane this morning for the 10 a.m. opening which Boyle ordered all witnesses to attend.

The No. 2 Democrat in the Senate has repeatedly said he looks forward to the inquest so that he can answer on a public record any questions that went unanswered in his television report.

He has told friends he is mainly concerned about a statement by John Farrar, the diver who took the body from the car, that Miss Kopechne could have survived in an air pocket long enough to have been saved if Kennedy had summoned help immediately.

Kennedy vehemently denies this in private and will try to introduce expert, scientific testimony from a private consulting firm that conducted an extensive investigation into the physical circumstances of the accident.

Denis sought an order from a court in Wilkes Barre, Pa., near where Miss Kopechne was buried, for exhumation of the body for a post mortem, but the judge ruled against him last month.

After the inquest, Boyle will write a report to the Superior Court—which occupies the same court room—announcing his conclusions about the legal cause of death. Regardless of the judge's finding, Dins will be free to take the case before a grand jury for a possible criminal proceeding.

Testifying about the cockpit and its aftermath will be the five girls, veterans like Miss Kopechne of Robert Kennedy's campaign, and the five men besides Kennedy who attended the party with them.

The girls are Rosemary Keough, 24, of Drexel Hill, Pa.; Maryellen Lyons, 26, of Milton, Mass.; her sister, Nance, 25, of Washington, who is on Kennedy's staff; Susan Tannenbaum, 24, of Washington; and Esther Newberg, 27, of Washington.

The men, besides Gargan, 39, and Markham, 38, are John J. Crimmins, 63, of Boston, a long-time personal aide to the Kennedy family; Raymond LaRosa, 34, of Andover, Mass.; and Charles C. Tretter, 30, of Dedham, Mass.

Islanders who are expected to testify include:

—Police Chief Dominick J. Arena, who supervised the removal of the body and car from the tidal pond, and the diver, Farrar.

—Deputy Sheriff Christopher S. Look Jr., who said he saw Kennedy's car on or near the bridge road 90 minutes after the time Kennedy said he drove off the bridge.

—Dr. Donald R. Mills, the medical examiner who checked the body and pronounced death by drowning.

—The owner and operator of the ferry called "On Time," which runs between Edgartown and Chappaquiddick.

—Russell Peachey, owner of the inn where Kennedy spent the night.

—Undertakers who handled Miss Kopechne's body.

A telephone company official who will be asked about any calls placed from the area on Kennedy's credit card that night and the next day.

Man Charged in Fatal Shooting

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jamie W. Olson, 70, of Little Rock has been charged with murder in the shooting death Saturday of John M. Cherry, 52, also of Little Rock.

Police said Cherry was shot in the chest. His body was found in an upright position on a couch of the front porch of a Little Rock residence.

Rotary Hears About Cost of Insurance

The need for insurance and the true cost to insurance cost were discussed by C.R. "Dick" Moore at the luncheon meeting of the Hope Rotary Club Friday in the Town and Country. He explained that rates are closely regulated in each state, and in Arkansas there is a very fair plan.

Since the actions of the public are what determine the rates that are set by insurance companies, "you really soak yourself" when you are careless, he said. He was referring, primarily to automobile liability insurance.

The program was arranged by Roy Anderson, who read a poem, "New Year's Gift," before introducing the speaker. President Benny Coleman had charge of the meeting and a brief board meeting which followed. He also welcomed two guests, Sydney McMahon of Boston, Mass., and Gary Gillum of Branson, Mo.

of the additional cost in raising an all-volunteer force would go to push up the pay of men in the lower ranks.

Evidently, the idea is to attract men into the service for the first time with more pay.

The commission staff has been reported to have proposed raising the pay of first-term enlistees as much as 100 per cent, with a figure of $5,500 a year mentioned as a desired level.

The commission also has been considering follow-up enlistments without any specific term. Thus, a soldier agreeing to stay on after first enlistment would not serve any set term but, like officers, would remain in uniform until asking to resign or retire.

However, veteran military manpower experts say the already serious problem of retaining enlisted men for military careers would be aggravated, rather than helped, by commission proposals.

Unless there also was significantly higher pay all along the line, veteran servicemen—particularly vital noncommissioned officers—might feel discriminated against and be less likely to stay on duty.

Reported commission proposals to cut out or cut down on post housing for military families and medical care for military dependents in post hospitals also are considered by some Pentagon authorities as actually harmful to the concept of an all-volunteer force.

Under commission recommendations the loss of fringe benefits would be offset somewhat by salary increases.

The apparent aim of the commission in eliminating or trimming fringe benefits is to bring servicemen closer to the mainstream of civilian life.

My Lai Is Termed Act of One Unit

By JAY SHARBUTT
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — The South Vietnamese Senate approved a resolution tonight stating that a "regrettable incident happened" at My Lai and called it "the single act of a U.S. unit."

The Senate demanded that President Nguyen Van Thieu take steps to safeguard the lives of South Vietnamese civilians.

Earlier a Senate investigating committee had reported it found U.S. troops had massacred civilians. However, the Senate resolution, adopted after nearly eight hours of debate, does not use the word massacre.

Twenty-five out of the 29 senators present voted to approve a measure that said a "regrettable incident happened, causing fatalities and damaging the properties of civilians and is the single act of a U.S. unit."

The Senate's action was a rebuke of President Thieu, who ordered an investigation into the My Lai affair only after reports of it were published in the United States.

The Senate resolution in effect, rejected the government's Nov. 22 report that no such massacre occurred at the coastal hamlet on March 16, 1968.

The Senate also demanded that Thieu take steps to safeguard "the lives and property of the people, especially those in contested areas."

The Senate also demanded that Thieu "take the initiative in the conduct of the war" by "unifying the commands between the South Vietnamese armed forces and the allies."

An earlier resolution of Sen. Tran Van Don, sponsored by the Senate's Defense Committee after a joint legislative group inspected the area, twice called the incident a massacre.

This resolution said Thieu "must bear the entire responsibility."

going to do, in each, he has given the same firm reply—that the United States plans to remain an Asian power and keep its commitments, but that they must take more of the burden of their defense.

American officials in Bangkok told newsmen they thought part of the problem has been that the doctrine indicates more of a change in emphasis than in basic policy. An Agnew aide termed it more a change in tone. The difference, he said, is that when Nixon and Agnew talk about Asian self-reliance, they mean it.

"It's a matter of giving teeth to the platitudes," he said.

This approach appears to have been especially successful in Thailand. Thai officials made clear to Agnew they believe they can handle their own Communist insurgency problem without the assistance of U.S. troops. Actually, the officials said, the United States started implementing something like the Nixon doctrine several years ago when it stopped flying helicopters into battle for the Thais.

In Nationalist China, Agnew's efforts appear to have met with mixed results.

President Chiang Kai-shek and Agnew got on so well that Chiang accompanied Agnew to the airport to wish him a good trip despite the fact that the vice president's message of continued U.S. efforts to normalize relations with Red China was displeasing to the 82-year-old leader.

And after Agnew's departure, one of Taipei's leading newspapers, the China News, complained that the Nixon Doctrine "has never been spelled out in detail." It added that while the United States has offered its help, "the nature and the amount of the help are not defined."

Some of the confusion in Asian minds appears to stem from the way in which the doctrine emerged.

President Nixon met with reporters on Guam to give some of his ideas at the start of his Asian trip, but they were not allowed to quote him directly.

What he outlined quickly became known as the Nixon Doctrine, but there was no set definition. Nixon then went to Thailand and indicated possible U.S. support against both external and internal aggression, a contradiction with his stated intent of staying out of civil war situations.

Members of Agnew's party give still another reason for the confusion—that the Asian leaders don't want to face up to a situation where they will be able to lean less and less on the United States.

American officials in at least two countries, the Philippines and Thailand, see confusion resulting from statements by U.S. senators indicating a weakening of the U.S. commitment, and from passage of the amendment barring U.S. ground combat troops from Laos or Thailand without expressed congressional approval.

Connecticut Beats Porks in College Bowl

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The University of Connecticut broke a tie after regulation time had run out and defeated the University of Arkansas on an NBC television program, the General Electric College Bowl.

The contest was taped for showing Saturday and Sunday. Each team scored 170 points during regulation time. Neither could answer the first tie-breaking question, but the Connecticut team correctly answered the second one.

The Arkansas team earlier had defeated Merrimack College of Massachusetts, a four-time winner. Members of the Arkansas team were Mike Mc-

McClerkin in Attack on Governor

TEXARKANA, Ark. (AP) — House Speaker Hayes C. McClerkin of Texarkana says that Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's program to gather information on "campus militants" could be used to defame "those who may be guilty of no more than disagreement with the governor."

The governor has said the formation of the list was intended to help him avoid major disruptions on Arkansas college campuses.

"Let's face it—being on the list is going to look bad for the person who's on it, whether he ought to be on it or not," McClerkin said Saturday in an interview.

"What if somebody comes around and says—do things my way or I'll put you on the list. It could be used that way to intimidate."

McClerkin, who is considered a possible Democratic gubernatorial candidate this year, said it was difficult to analyze the "potential danger" of the list because the governor hasn't given a definition of a "campus militant."

"Is it somebody who has caused violence and been convicted of his crimes?" McClerkin asked. "Or is it merely somebody who has spoken out for what he believes in?"

He said he wasn't for "coddling" anyone who commits violence or causes destruction, but that preserving law and order is a process that should be pursued through legal channels.

Rockefeller has said the list would not be a blacklist. He has said there was "no suggestion of Gestapo tactics" in it.

DANCE PARTY

"The Soul Enterprise" played for the New Year's Eve dance at the Hope Country Club on Wednesday, December 31, enjoyed by some 130 club members and guests.

Life-size reproductions of Father Time and Baby 1970 were in the entrance hall of the club house. Bells, balloons, paper streamers and a big clock appropriately decorated the dancing area.

Hors d'oeuvres, dips 'n' chips and cold drinks were served during the evening. Hosts were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wray, Alvin Easterting, Frank McLarty, and Fred Ellis.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Bracy of Batesville announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Rebecca Ann, to J. Lance Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Haskell Jones.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Batesville High School and will be a candidate for a BA degree in speech at the spring graduation of Arkansas College.

The bridegroom-elect was graduated from Hope High School, received a BA degree from Arkansas College, and is now a graduate student in history at the University of Arkansas.

Wedding plans are incomplete at this time and will be announced at a later date.

GOLDEN AGE CLUB MEETS

The Golden Age Club began the new year with a meeting in the Douglas Building on January 1. To open the meeting the new president, Mrs. Eva McKinney, read the poem, "Prayer." The business meeting that followed was routine.

Ervin Gleghorn won the door prize, and the 11 present played several games during the recreation period. For refreshments coffee, cold drinks and cookies were served. Mrs. McKinney dismissed the meeting with prayer.

Spreading Hair Business Across U.S.

By ROGER DOUGHTY, NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Sitting in a pub on New York's 33rd Street, sipping a drink and eyeballing the mini-skirted waitress, Henry Pinkwater, perhaps the world's most celebrated Polish army veteran, prepared to sell America.

"Yesterday," Pinkwater said, waving for another drink. "I sold New Jersey. I could have sold Dallas, but the guy wants all of Texas and Oklahoma, too. That's too much. He couldn't handle it."

What Pinkwater is selling, it turns out, isn't really all the national real estate, just the right to open one of his Hair-ever salons thereon. Like so many other people these days, he's franchising.

The franchise craze caught on a few years ago, helped along by own-your-own-business shows. The idea is supposed to be that everybody wants to go into business for himself, and a lot of people seem to agree. Everything from doughnut stands to cleaning establishments has been popping up all over the place, so Pinkwater figured, why not hair?

Cheap it isn't. Henry might let you into the business if you have $25,000 you can spare—if he likes you.

But Henry isn't in this for the money, he says, smiling. He just wants to help people.

"My customers are very particular about their appearance," he said, shifting his attention from the waitress to an equally leggy patron who mimed past his table.

"The people who come into my place for a hair weave are usually traveling people. They get around a lot and they need to know that no matter where they go they'll be able to have their hair taken care of by somebody who knows what he's doing. That's why I'm expanding. If I make some money, too, it will be O.K."

Hair weaving, it turns out, was developed by Louisiana Negroes more than 100 years ago. Eventually the process was carried to Harlem, which is right where it stayed until a friend of Pinkwater's had a weave job done and showed it to Henry. Knowing a good thing when he saw one, Henry went into the hair-weave biz.

"Men are just as vain as women—maybe more so," claims Henry. As fate would have it, Henry has a lot of hair (all his own), but he really feels for those guys who don't.

"All our lives we've been flambogged into thinking women can be beautiful and men can't," said Henry. He doesn't say how one gets flambogged, but he has to.

"Men," he feels, "have secretly envied women for generations. Deep down inside, men have wanted to dress up, have their hair

Argyle Has Mini-Fans

Any little gems around your house? Knit them a bright new outfit in diamond-shaped argyles. Directions for sizes 2, 3 and 4 also include a bonus set of instructions for making a toddler's hooded topper.

By JUDY LOVE

Diamonds are a knitter's best friend. The gem-shaped pattern of argyle is flashing back on the fashion scene—rediscovered by a new generation of needleworkers.

Argyles once were mainly for men, but that's ancient history now. Today, women want them in miniskirts, maxicoats, suits, skirts and the new ankle-length scarves. And preschoolers take them right across the Generation Gap.

Knit these new outfits for a little boy and girl to see how easy and ageless argyles really are. The junior wardrobe, knitted in Columbia-Minerva's soft Nantuk Sports Yarn, includes argyle patterns in a boy's blazer, a girl's easy-fit jumper, and socks that either can wear. There's also a cute solid color pullover, boxer shorts and matching socks. Instructions for sizes 2, 3 and 4 are complete with easy-to-follow pattern charts.

If your youngster is a year too young for argyle, let the baby toddle away the time in a hooded top. You can knit it quickly on No. 11 needles for sizes 1 and 2. Directions are included with instructions for making the argyle wardrobe.

Just send 50 cents for all sets of knitting instructions to "Stitchin' Time," in care of your local newspaper, P.O. Box 503, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. Ask for leaflet S181, and include your name, address and zip code.

Knit Knacks

Dear Judy Love: I am knitting a sweater, using three strands of yarn. I like the textured effect that it produces but what I don't like is having to spend so much time untangling yarn. How can I keep the strands straight? L.G.

Dear L.G.: The best of knitters have trouble with tangled yarns when working with more than a single strand. The solution is to run all the strands through a spool before you begin to knit. If the store where you buy your yarn has a well-done, even wear lipstick. They'd do it if they thought they could get away with it."

While Henry doesn't think the world is quite ready for that, he's sure that what the world needs now is hair, hair, hair. Stamp out baldness is his motto.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY, AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — There is so much quiet charm and warmth packed into CBS' "To Rome, With Love" that it seems a pity it is scheduled opposite NBC's powerful "Wonderful World of Disney." Given a chance, the half hour might build the same kind of audience achieved by "Family Affair."

Sunday night's episode was typical of the gentle and low-key humor of the series. Attractive and believable John Forsythe plays a widowed professor teaching and living in Rome with his three young daughters.

The program had the first romantic overtones of the series — the professor's chance encounter, in a library, with a beautiful Italian woman played by Anna Maria Alberghetti, who turns out to be a famous ballerina. The romantic interlude ended when the girl left for an American tour.

Forsythe plays his part with maturity, sympathy and understanding. Other characters in the series are three very cute children. Joyce Menges, playing the oldest, had a pleasant bit as a romance-minded teenager urging her father to swing a little in the Eternal City.

The series also has the valuable services of Kay Medford whose comedy talents are not, alas, even faintly visible in the sour-faced role of Aunt Harriet, the professor's sister. She plays a sulky, homesick woman from the Midwest who constantly mourns that in Rome there is no American peanut butter, chunky style, in the market, and who laments Italian sleeping bags. The other companion is ABC's "Land of Giants," a dimension adventure series. Once the viewer has gotten used to the size of a small room and realize that the hour is likely to become a bore. It consists of wild adventures of a band of earthlings stranded on a planet of English-speaking, contemporary humans — most of them bad guys — who are about 10 times the size of the human race.

It seems likely that in view of the weak ratings of "To Rome, With Love" and "Land of the Giants" neither will be around after this season. The former does seem worth saving.

Now that king football's retirement from TV's stage center is upon us, some other sports will start having their weekends of glory. CBS' "Gold Classic" series starts Jan. 10; NBC's "Wonderful of Golf" begins a week later. ABC will resume with its "Pro Bowlers' tour" on Jan. 10. Basketball and hockey will also be given a network whirl.

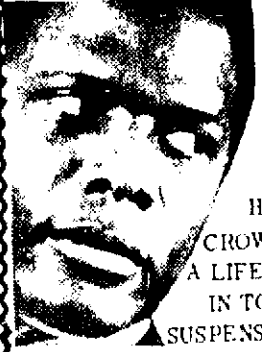

"The Survivors" tonight starts its emergency wrap-up of the series so that all loose ends will be tied up upon its departure after 15 episodes. George Hamilton will not skip a week of network exposure between the end of his old show and the mid-January premiere of his new one, "Paris 7000," a romantic action series.

Vikings Have No Trouble With Browns

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. PAUL, MINN. (AP) — Joe Kapp set the tone for the Minnesota Vikings' approach to next Sunday's Super Bowl game after beating the Cleveland Browns 27-7 Sunday for their first National Football League title.

"We've done it before," said Kapp, "and we just have to do it one more time."

Kapp, of course, referred to the Vikings' uphill battle to the league championship as a ninth-year expansion team by whipping Los Angeles for the conference crown and then manhandling Cleveland before 47,900 frozen fans in eight-degree chill at Metropolitan Stadium.

Bud Grant, the steel-eyed coach of the Vikings, took the usual cautious coach's outlook on next Sunday's Super Bowl game with Kansas City, the American Football League champs, in New Orleans.

"I thought the best team won," said Grant after watching the final stages of Kansas City's 17-7 victory over Oakland on television. "They impressed us with their aggressiveness and control of the game, at least the part we saw."

The Vikings and Chiefs have met only once, in a 1968 preseason game won by Kansas City 13-10.

"They were immense," said Grant. "We have heard people say that Minnesota and Kansas City are both physical teams. Maybe so, but not quite in the same sense. They are a much bigger team than we are. We don't have people to match the size of Buck Buchanan, Aaron Brown and Jerry Mays. Their offensive line is just as big. The physical matchup isn't the same in the sense that they're so damned big."

The Vikings scheduled a squad meeting today and plan to fly to New Orleans early Tuesday morning. Then they will really begin to start getting ready for the Chiefs.

"We didn't scout them," said Grant. "We will have to depend on the game films we exchange."

The Vikings are lucky they still have a football team in place after the exuberant celebration by the fans in the final seconds of Sunday's game. Kapp was pummeled by well-wishers on his way to the locker room.

"It was even worse than the Cleveland rush," said Kapp who scrambled seven yards for the first touchdown on a broken play, after fullback Bill Brown bumped into him.

"That was supposed to be an off tackle shot by Brown," explained Kapp. "But Bill slipped on the ice and we ran together so I just tried to follow the blocking on in."

UCLA Doing Its Best for Comeback

By KEN RAFFOPOLO
Associated Press Sports Writer
What's a four-letter word meaning success? Easy, UCLA. The defending national champion Bruins are doing their incomparable thing again this year—winning college basketball games with scientific ease.

On Saturday night, the Bruins continued on their merry, undefeated way by smearing 13th-ranked Notre Dame 108-77 at friendly Pauley Pavilion.

Coach Johnny Dee of Notre Dame was impressed after the Bruins taught his squad a lesson.

"UCLA has more professional prospects than the other two teams together—top-ranked Kentucky and third-ranked South Carolina," said Dee, whose club played all three in eight days.

The victory gave the second-ranked Bruins their 100th success in the last 102 games, P.S.—Coach John Wooden's teams have lost only once on their home court in nine years, last year to Southern Cal.

Elsewhere in the Top Ten Saturday night, Kentucky shot down Mississippi 95-73; fourth-ranked North Carolina whipped Rice 98-72; fifth-ranked Ohio State belabored Kent State 78-52; Tennessee, No. 6, clipped Mississippi State 58-56; Houston, No. 8, defeated Hawaii 116-84 and ninth-ranked Washington bounced Yale 84-70.

Notre Dame, which lost by two points to Kentucky and by one in overtime to South Carolina, never was in Saturday's game with UCLA. Wooden attributed the impressive victory to "a good, well-balanced team effort."

The obvious question: Can UCLA beat Kentucky?

"I have no idea if we can beat Kentucky," said Wooden. "I haven't seen Kentucky. But we're a good enough team that on a given night we could take anyone. I won't say we're the best, but we rank up there with the best and Kentucky ranks up there, too."

Junior Hope Bobkittens Are Defeated

By BILL MOORE
In the first of two games Saturday night the Yerger Junior High Bobkittens were trimmed by the Ouachita Warriors, 32-28 in a close and low scoring battle, at Ouachita.

Playing against a tight defense the Bobkittens could only get three points on a basket by Buddy Ingram and a free throw by Don Lively, while allowing Ouachita seven, in the first quarter.

The Warriors built up an 11-3 lead before Ingram hit two charity shots with 3:29 left in the half. Again Hope stalled until Doug Archer and Danny Joyce hit free throws just before the half cutting Ouachita's lead to nine, 16-7.

Neither team could score in the third quarter until 3:01 when Ingram connected to cut the lead to seven. Ouachita again pushed the lead to ten points, before Ingram and Lively hit baskets, with only a few seconds left, to close the third quarter with Hope trailing 21-43.

The fourth quarter was a real battle, with Hope putting up a great effort for a comeback bid only to have foul trouble in the last minute and fall short by only four points.

First Jay Barrentine hit a free throw, Don Lively a field goal, and Barrentine hit a basket, meanwhile giving Ouachita four points. Then Ingram found his mark, connecting on jump shots for the Kittens last ten points.

The first two baskets kept Hope close and the third quarter pulled Hope to within one point of Ouachita, 27-26.

Foul trouble then hit Hope and Ouachita capitalized to put the game out of reach after Ingram hit his last basket with only 0:30 left.

Overall, the Bobkittens were held in the first half, only scoring nine points, but came on strong in the second half and gave a good effort though losing for their third loss against four victories.

Others seeing action were Gary Rhodes and Jimmy Smith. Chancener was Crow. The high scorer for Hope was Ingram with 18 points, and Bayette. Chancener led Ouachita with 11. Corn Matthews.

Unwilling Prophet and With No Joy

By GENE LAHAMMER
ST. PAUL, MINN. (AP) — Cleveland Coach Blanton Collier found himself an unwilling prophet without joy in the frozen northlands while the Minnesota Vikings toasted their first National Football League championship.

"I'd like to have proven myself wrong," said Collier, after the Vikings had overpowered his Browns 27-7 Sunday in the NFL title game. "I'm on record prior to this season that Minnesota just possibly had the best football team in the NFL."

The 63-year-old elder statesman of NFL coaches added: "I hate to be a prophet. We were beaten by a great football team. We don't have any excuses. I hope they go all the way."

"All the way" was also the thought of quarterback Joe Kapp and the rest of his Viking teammates.

"We've done it before and we just have to do it one more time," said Kapp of Sunday's Super Bowl clash with the American football League champion Kansas City Chiefs.

Others seeing action were Gary Rhodes and Jimmy Smith. Chancener was Crow. The high scorer for Hope was Ingram with 18 points, and Bayette. Chancener led Ouachita with 11. Corn Matthews.

Texas to Lose Half of Wishbone

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Texas' wishbone will be broken in half next year.

The loss of quarterback James Street, the fourth down magician, and halfback Ted Koy, a top pro prospect, will make it especially tough for Royal's Longhorns to repeat as the national champions of college football.

"You are always hopeful of a repeat," said Royal, "but the odds are so heavily against that kind of thing. It's a frustrating feeling when you know it's only one way to go. I don't want to sound like a defeatist, but you've got to be a realist."

Royal, coach at Texas since 1957, directed the school's first national champion in 1956 and missed out the next year when the Longhorns gambled on a two-point conversion and lost to Arkansas, 14-13, for Texas' only defeat.

This season Royal gambled—once, not twice but three times—in the final do-or-die games against Arkansas and Notre Dame and it paid off each time, giving the Longhorns the national title.

The Associated Press' final poll of sportswriters and sportscasters, after the Jan. 1 bowl games, made Texas the No. 1 team in the nation with 37 first place votes and a total of 910 points.

Penn State was No. 2 with seven first place votes and 822 points. Two voters split their top choice between Texas and Penn State, and two others selected Ohio State, No. 1 all year until upset by Michigan in its final game.

Southern Cal finished third; Ohio State was fourth; Notre Dame climbed from ninth to fifth after losing to Texas, 21-17, in the final 68 seconds in the Cotton Bowl; Missouri remained sixth despite its 10-3 loss to Penn State in the Orange Bowl; Arkansas fell from third to seventh after Mississippi whipped the Razorbacks 27-22 in the Sugar Bowl; Mississippi leaped from 13th to eighth; Michigan dropped from seventh to ninth after losing to Southern Cal 10-3 in the Rose Bowl; and Louisiana State, which did not play in a bowl, was shifted from eighth to No. 10.

The second 10, in order, were Nebraska, Houston, UCLA, Florida, Tennessee, Colorado, West Virginia, Purdue, Stanford and Auburn.

Texas' backfield of Street, Koy, Steve Worster and Jim Bertelsen—operating out of Texas' two-year-old wishbone-T offense—was considered the finest in the Southwest Conference's 75-year history, ripping off 2,242 yards in 10 games out of a team total of 3,630 yards rushing, an SWC record.

"It's a helluva group," said Notre Dame coach Ara Parseghian after Texas gobbled up 331 yards rushing against an Irish defense that was allowing only 85 yards a game on the ground.

"We have never played a stronger backfield, better individuals yes, but not as a group," Parseghian said.

Street, pulling the trigger after Royal called the shots, connected on a fourth-and-three 44-yard pass against Arkansas, sent Koy barreling for a first down on fourth-and-two and hit Charles Speyrer on fourth-and-two against the Irish in pulsating finishes to those games. A misfire any time probably would have cost the Steers the national title.

There are those who believe that Texas would have been No. 1 last season too, if Street had started instead of Bill Bradley, a marvelous athlete who is now a punter-defensive back for the Philadelphia Eagles but was miscast as a quarterback in the intricate wishbone-T. The Longhorns tied Houston and lost to Texas Tech, and then Royal replaced Bradley with Street, and the peppery 175-pounder directed Texas to 20 straight victories.

Koy called Street a "mini-psychologist," a quarterback who talks as good a game in the huddle as he plays.

His replacement will be either Eddie Phillips, who averaged 6.4 yards a carry running this season as Street's understudy but seemed to lack his nimble footwork, or freshman Gary Keithley, a 6-2 strongman who can zing a football but also lacks Street's agility.

Texas will lose its 252-pound All-America tackle Bob McKay; linebacker Glen Halsell, who also made at least one All-America team; and the Campbell twins, Mike and Tom, who always seemed to be in the right place on defense at the right time.

Safety Freddie Steinmark's career was ended when cancer forced the amputation of one leg at the hip.

Assistant Is Named to Post

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — Charles Presley, an assistant at Fort Smith Northside, has been named the school's new head football coach, succeeding Bill Stancell.

Stancell has been elevated to athletic director for the school district.

The Fort Smith School Board, in announcing Presley's promotion, also said that Jim Rowland, an assistant at Northside, would be head coach at Fort Smith Southside, succeeding Charles "Dub" McGibbony, who has taken a teaching position.

His replacement will be either Eddie Phillips, who averaged 6.4 yards a carry running this season as Street's understudy but seemed to lack his nimble footwork, or freshman Gary Keithley, a 6-2 strongman who can zing a football but also lacks Street's agility.

Texas will lose its 252-pound All-America tackle Bob McKay; linebacker Glen Halsell, who also made at least one All-America team; and the Campbell twins, Mike and Tom, who always seemed to be in the right place on defense at the right time.

Safety Freddie Steinmark's career was ended when cancer forced the amputation of one leg at the hip.

Returning besides Bertelsen, the team's leading rusher this season as a sophomore, and Worster, mentioned on several All-America teams, are Speyrer, tackle Bobby Wuensch and end Bill Atesis, all of whom were named on one or more All-America squads.

Speyrer, the slender split end, is particularly dangerous in the open field, averaging almost 17 yards a catch on 56 pass receptions the past two seasons and demonstrating moves similar to George Sauer, a former Longhorn who is now a great flanker with the New York Jets.

The Longhorns could be a strong machine again, only if they can find an engineer like Street to keep things running.

The second 10, in order, were Nebraska, Houston, UCLA, Florida, Tennessee, Colorado, West Virginia, Purdue, Stanford and Auburn.

Characters Picked for Super Bowl

By BEN THOMAS
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The cast of characters has been selected for Sunday's Super Bowl game, the first to be played in New Orleans, which will apparently have pro football's championship clash for at least two more years.

A highly knowledgeable source told The Associated Press that the office of pro football Commissioner Pete Rozelle has a three-year option on 82,000-capacity Tulane Stadium, where Minnesota and Kansas City battle on Sunday in the fourth and final championship game between the National and American Football Leagues.

This information had not been previously made public.

"They must have a stadium that can bring in a big gate in order to meet the payoffs," said the source. "It's either here, Cleveland, or raise the ticket prices again. It's too cold in Cleveland, even though that stadium can handle 84,000 and Rozelle doesn't want to raise the prices again."

The Super Bowl was first played in Los Angeles, then shifted to Miami's Orange Bowl for the past two years. A task force wooed the club owners early last year and the game was awarded to New Orleans. The official announcement from Rozelle said the site selection would be made for only one year at a time.

Miamians have been confident the game would return to the Florida city for 1971, when the first championship under the NFL-AFL merger format would pit the American Conference and National Conference titles.

Last year's Super Bowl, which saw Joe Namath lead the New York Jets to a stunning 16-7 conquest of Baltimore for the AFL's first victory in three championship clashes, had a paid crowd of 75,389.

The $1.2 million gate will be the largest ever in pro football. It will take practically all of it—and perhaps even some of the $2 million in broadcasting rights—just to pay the competing players, $15,000 to each winning player, $7,500 to the losers.

Quachita Is Favorite to Retain Lead

Quachita Baptist University, unbeaten in AIC play, figures to retain its lead in Division A this week as the teams return to conference action.

The schedule shows the Tigers going against Ouarks and Hendrix, who have a combined 0-19 record.

Henderson, the leader in Division B, plays Arkansas A&M Tuesday night and then faces Arkansas Tech Friday night at Arkadelphia. Tech, with a 5-1 conference record, is chasing Ouachita.

Southern State, two games back of Ouachita, plays Arkansas College Tuesday night and Arkansas A&M Friday night. Arkansas College, with a 3-2 conference record, is second to Henderson in Division B.

Neither Ouachita nor Henderson fared well in last week's games.

Quachita won one and lost one in the Northwest Louisiana tournament while Henderson dropped a 92-89 double overtime decision to Arkansas A&M in the finals of the Kiwanis tournament at Pine Bluff. Saturday night, the Reddies lost to Louisiana College 84-76.

Penquins Did Better With Goaltender

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The net was empty but the Pittsburgh Penguins did better when Toronto had a goaltender in front of it.

The Maple Leafs yanked goalie Bruce Gamble for an extra attacker in the final minute Sunday night and the maneuver paid off when Britt Selby scored with 25 seconds left to play, giving Toronto a 4-4 National Hockey League tie with Pittsburgh.

In other NHL games Sunday, Detroit shut out Chicago 4-0, New York ripped Oakland 5-2 and Philadelphia dropped Minnesota 3-1.

In Saturday's games, Boston battered Los Angeles 6-2, Montreal took Oakland 5-1, Detroit tripped Philadelphia 6-1, Toronto defeated Chicago 6-2, St. Louis shut out Pittsburgh 6-0 and New York and Minnesota played to a 3-3 tie.

Defenseman Bob Woytowich, returning to the Pittsburgh line-up after missing nine games, scored twice in the first period and the Penguins maintained a two-goal lead through most of the game.

Then, with eight minutes left, Murray Oliver hit for the Leafs, narrowing the Pittsburgh lead to 6-5. It stayed that way until Gamble left and Selby stuffed the tying goal past Al Smith.

Gary Unger scored his sixth and seventh goals the last four games and goalie Roy Edwards kicked out 33 Chicago shots as Detroit picked up its first shut-out of the season.

Rockets Not Playing Like Last Placers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Denver Rockets are a last place team but they're not playing like one.

The Rockets pounded Dallas 122-85 Sunday night for their seventh straight victory in the American Basketball Association and their ninth in 11 games under their new coach, Joe Belmont.

The victory, sparked by Larry Jones' 28 points and Spencer Haywood's 25, matched the Rockets' longest winning streak ever and their 37-point winning margin was the largest ever amassed by a Rocket team.

Because of their miserable start this season, the Rockets are still in last place in the Western Division. But the way they're playing it looks like their days in the cellar are numbered. They're only one game out of fourth place in the tight five-team division.

In other games Sunday, Indiana beat Carolina 121-113 and Miami whipped the New York Nets 124-104.

In the National Basketball Association, Philadelphia beat Boston 130-120; Cincinnati edged Baltimore 129-128, Atlanta nipped Milwaukee 126-125, Los Angeles pounded Phoenix 120-112; San Diego whipped Chicago 140-121 and Detroit defeated Seattle 116-110.

In Saturday ABA games, Kentucky best New Orleans 119-107, Dallas edged Los Angeles 139-137, Carolina defeated New York 100-91, and Miami turned back Pittsburgh 114-111.

Los Angeles Clobbers the Cowboys

MIAMI (AP)—Pro football's most infamous stepchild is dead. Roman Gabriel gave the 10-year-old NFL Playoff Bowl a four-bomb salute and the Dallas Cowboys stood around as pallbearers.

If there was any reason for the National Football League's backdoor classic it was $1.25 million funneled into the players' pension fund during the 1960s. But, after a decade as a haven for championship playoff losers, the misnamed event is no more.

Strom Is Very Confident of His Team

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

OAKLAND (AP)—The way Coach Hank Strom feels about it, the Minnesota Vikings his Kansas City Chiefs will meet in Sunday's Super Bowl game may very well be the Green Bay Packers in disguise.

Strom's memories of the Packers are colored by the passage of time and the reflections on the Green Bay team that whipped his Chiefs 35-10 three years ago in the first Super Bowl game. But Strom does remember, and he does find resemblances in the Vikings.

"In a lot of respects they are very much alike," Strom said after his Chiefs had gained entry to pro football's premier event with a 17-7 victory over Oakland. "Both teams have simplicity in approach and executed very well."

"They don't do a lot of things—but what they do, they do well."

As for his own Chiefs, Strom said frankly:

"I don't think there's any comparisons. Our team is much better than the 1966 team. We're much better defensively."

That improvement is reflected in the fact that only four defensive starters remain from those Super Bowl losers and it was reflected on the floor of Oakland Coliseum Sunday as the Chiefs' defense played the key role in bringing Kansas City the American Football League championship.

They put on a furiously fierce pass rush on Oakland quarterback Daryle Lamontica that forced him out of the game at one point with jammed fingers on his throwing hand and dumped him four times for losses and so harassed him that he had three passes intercepted.

And, after the Chiefs had sputtered to a 17-7 lead, the defensive unit four times stopped the Raiders inside the Kansas City 40 in the fourth quarter when any successful offensive thrust by Lamontica might have changed the momentum of the game and the result of the game.

"Our great desire -- our will to win -- was expressed by our defensive line," said Strom. "We were a very tight offensive club at the beginning. The defense kept us in the game."

They did for the first 27 minutes, limiting Oakland to a 7-0 lead on Charley Smith's three-yard run following a 24-yard pass to Warren Wells, the fleet Raider receiver who played despite a shoulder separation suffered three weeks ago.

Then the Chiefs broke the first of two important offensive plays Strom singled out as the keys to the victory.

With the ball on the Oakland 42, quarterback Len Dawson sent Frank Pitts straight down the sidelines for a 41-yard pass that defender Nemiah Wilson couldn't break up. Wendell Hayes smashed the final yard on the next play and Jan Stenerud's conversion made it 7-7.

"The play to Pitts provided us with a great lift," said Strom, "and we were in dire need of it. We were tight offensively but I felt if we could get untracked we could relieve the pressure."

The pressure was there again, however, midway of the third quarter when Dawson went back to pass with a third-and-14 situation on his own two yard line and was chased into the end zone by the Oakland defense, arching a pass down the sidelines to Otis Taylor just before he was reached.

Taylor caught it -- and he caught it in bounds, making a brilliant over the head grab for 35 yards that took the Chiefs out of trouble and started a drive that didn't end until the goal line had been crossed by Holmes on a five-yard run.

Stenerud later added a field goal, but it was out of reach at that point as it turned out, although there are those who point to the series before when Lamontica was subjected to a brutal pass rush by defensive end Aaron Brown that resulted in his jamming three fingers on his throwing hand.

George Blanda came in to replace him and had a pass intercepted by Emmitt Thomas in the end zone that cut off the drive. Dawson then hitched up the Chief offense, connected on a key pass to Taylor and put the Chiefs ahead to stay.

Lamontica sat out one more series before returning, but was unable to get the Raiders a score.

"The last thing we do would be to make excuses," said Oakland Coach John Madden. "We win or lose as a team. I'm sure Daryle's hand bothered him. It was hurt. But it's no excuse. The thing that led to our downfall was breaks.

"We didn't take advantage of them. They did, and they should be complimented."

It was, of course, hard to blame the defeat on anything but the Kansas City defense, which made a slight adjustment that may have made the difference. The ends, Brown and Jerry Mays, decided to change their movements after noting their lack of success in two previous losses this season.

"Aaron and myself took more inside pass rushes than we've ever taken before," said Mays. "We asked for permission to do that and the coaches conferred and approved. We felt Lamontica didn't mind outside pressure but was bothered by inside pressure."

As for his own Chiefs, Strom said frankly:

fans braved a rainstorm to see the mighty Gabriel throw a wet ball for touchdowns of 67, 48, 35 and 16 yards.

The NFL's contract with the sponsoring Orange Bowl Committee ran out Saturday, but the Miami group wants more. A spokesman said the group would like to match runners up of the American and National conferences after the NFL merges with the American Football League next season.

Gabriel's efforts earned $1,200 for each Ram. The Dallas troops made $500 a head. Both teams could only dream about the $25,000 due the Minnesota-Kansas City victor in next week's Super Bowl in New Orleans.

Coach Tom Landry said Dallas' ineffectiveness on scoring drives left little doubt what was ahead. "When you get down close on two or three occasions and can't even salvage a field goal, there's not much more you can expect than a 31-0 tickle," he said.

Mike Clark, head coach from only 16 and 12 yards for the Cowboys.

Two of Gabriel's touchdown throws went to former Notre Dame star Jack Snow. He made a brilliant fingertip grab on a 67-yard pitch and scored the Dallas secondary on a 48-yarder.

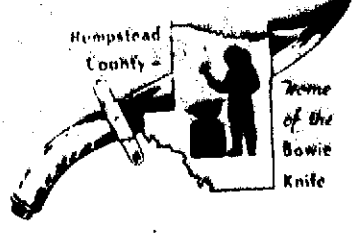

The coy woman in business is as irritating as the overly aggressive type.

Volunteer Military Is Unrealistic

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Even before it reports, certain key defense officials consider a presidential commission's proposals for an all-volunteer military force will be unrealistic. These officials base their judgment on reports the panel's recommendations will stress higher pay for lower rank servicemen while recommending cancellation or reduction of fringe benefits.

According to their view, the commission has paid too little attention to retaining men beyond their first enlistment. The commission, headed by former Defense Secretary Thomas Gates, meets late this week to complete action on its report and forward its recommendations to President Nixon.

In advance of that action, a top member of the commission said the 15-member group has agreed an all-volunteer Army of about 2.5 million men should be established at an estimated cost of an additional $2 billion to $4 billion a year.

Before President Nixon began Vietnam troop withdrawals and total U.S. military manpower stood at 3.5 million men, the government estimated the yearly cost at $41 billion.

The commission cost figures are one of the lowest ever cited by those who have studied the problem. Last July, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird told a group of government interns the extra cost of a volunteer force, as opposed to the current draft-based military structure, "certainly... will be in the area of around $8 billion."

Studies during the Johnson administration concluded it would cost as much as $17 billion more a year to support an all-volunteer force at the present Vietnam war level.

Some Pentagon authorities suggest the presidential commission is trying to solve the problem too cheaply. Dean William H. Meckling of the University of Rochester, executive director of the commission, indicated last week much

Death From Exposure

MEMPHIS (AP)—Mrs. Macie Lou Hall, 41, whose body was found Friday in a shallow pool of water in Memphis, died of exposure, police reported.

Community Education Is Seeking Help of Young Black Men

By JOHN M. PEARCE
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Census Bureau is mounting a campaign designed primarily to persuade young black men to cooperate during the 1970 headcount in April.

A bureau official said in an interview an active "community education effort" has been going on for several months. It puts heavy emphasis on the effect—such as loss of government assistance—that can result if the Census understates the number of blacks in the total population.

Paul R. Squires, assistant chief of the bureau's field division, said young black men who most often do not want to be listed for fear of running afoul of welfare rules and the law are missed most often.

"The demographers say they show up 20 years later," he added.

In its brochures the bureau makes clear its records are secret and cannot be used for anything but statistics. One brochure entitled "We the black people of the United States," estimates 10 percent of the nation's blacks may not have been counted in the 1960 census.

Squires said the Census has been supported by Negroes "who see it could result in more black congressmen, more grants and aid." The Census information is used to figure how many congressmen each state is entitled to.

This census, required by the Constitution every 10 years, will be a quarter-billion-dollar effort involving 185,000 workers, all but a few hired especially for the job at salaries ranging from about $2 an hour for enumerators—paid on a piecework rate—to $200 a week for district managers.

Although the listing is openly political, references from GOP congressmen, senators and party officials don't produce enough workers and in some places qualified people are hard to find.

In New York, Squires said, "Sleet, Snow Forecast for Arkansas"

Forecast for Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Another night of sleet and snow was forecast for tonight over much of Arkansas as cold, Arctic air advanced toward the state.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said the amount and extent of the snowfall would depend on how far southward the cold air reaches before the moisture associated with a low-pressure system moves out.

The cold, Arctic air was expected to remain over the state most of the week. Precipitation, however, is expected to end by Tuesday morning.

Overnight lows around the state included 33 at Harrison and Jonesboro, 34 at Little Rock and Fort Smith, 36 at Pine Bluff and Memphis and 39 at Texarkana and El Dorado.

Texasarkana, with 53 of an inch of rain, was the only station reporting any precipitation for the 24-hour period ending at 6:30 a.m. today.

"we're having extreme difficulty recruiting management types. The jobs don't pay enough."

This year all prospective employees must pass written tests, and Squires said the one for managers is so tough applicants with less than two years of college have difficulty passing.

The census will be taken three basic ways, all using the mail for at least part of the process. In areas containing about 60 percent of the population, questionnaires will be mailed March 27 to 40 million households, which will be asked to fill them out April 1 and mail them back.

In most places an enumerator will go around mid-April to help fill out incomplete questionnaires and check on households for which no response is received.

But in 45 of the "toughest situations," mainly inner city areas such as metropolitan New York and New Jersey, follow-ups will be made by telephone.

Only as a last resort will enumerators—paid better than elsewhere—go around to gather information on people who have not responded at all.

In other areas, which cover the majority of the nation but only 40 percent of the population, some residents will receive the forms by mail but will be asked to hold them for the enumerator to pick up.

Dam Breaks, 33 Missing in the Andes

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — A flood control dam gave way in the foothills of the Andes Sunday, sending a six-foot wall of mud and water racing toward the city of Mendoza and killing at least 33 persons.

Radio reports to Buenos Aires, 750 miles east of the disaster area, indicated that the death toll could reach 70.

A torrential all-day rain had swollen the Mendoza River to overflowing, causing flooding in many areas outside the city of 700,000. Suddenly the dam burst at Godoy Cruz, a small village just outside the city.

The flood of mud and water drowned motorists in their cars as it swept the autos along the streets. It uprooted trees, smashed houses, swept pedestrians off their feet and raged through streetside outdoor cafes.

At least 500 people were left homeless or injured as the water and mud ripped into flimsy shacks on the edge of the city, police reported.

Government officials estimated that wind and rain in Neuquen and Rio Negro provinces, south of Mendoza, have destroyed at least half of this year's apple and pear crops, which were to have been harvested this month.

Telephone and cable communications with the city were cut off and electrical power was disrupted.

Secret Inquest in Kennedy Case

By JOSEPH E. MOHAT
Associated Press Writer
EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Events surrounding the death of Mary Jo Kopechne in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car come under the scrutiny today of a secret inquest into the midsummer tragedy on Chappaquiddick Island.

Above all, Kennedy has told friends, he wants to prove Miss Kopechne could not have survived in his submerged, overturned car in Poucha Pond even if he had summoned help immediately instead of reporting the accident nine hours later.

With the inquest, the 37-year-old senator will submit to his first formal questioning about the accident that killed the 28-year-old one-time Robert F. Kennedy campaign worker and cast a cloud over the promising political future of the last of the Kennedy brothers.

More than 100 newsmen came to the wintry fastness of this silent, picture book village on the island of Martha's Vineyard. But it probably will be some time before the world is told of the story unfolding in the austere courtroom of District Court Judge James A. Boyle.

The Massachusetts Supreme Court ordered that the inquest be held in secret and that the record be locked up until all possibility of any criminal prosecution has passed. Newsmen will see the witnesses come and go but probably will learn little once the inquest is under way.

State and local police will guard the courthouse. State police are even checking the court chamber for listening devices. After a light snowfall had turned Edgartown into a Christmas card scene Sunday, five young women and five men arrived on the island and were quietly driven to private homes to await their appearances in court.

It was a far cry from their joyous arrival on the weekend of July 18. Then they were here to watch Kennedy race in the Edgartown Regatta and to attend a steak cookout in a little rented cottage on Chappaquiddick Island.

The party ended in tragedy when Kennedy, who said he and Miss Kopechne were driving to catch the last ferry back to Edgartown, made a wrong turn

Cong Announces Tet Cease-Fire

HONG KONG (AP) — The Viet Cong today announced a four-day cease-fire for the Tet festival of the lunar new year, from 7 a.m. Feb. 5 to 7 a.m. Feb. 9—6 p.m. EST Feb. 4 to 6 p.m. Feb. 8.

There has been no indication yet from the Saigon government of its plans for Tet.

Last year the Viet Cong proclaimed a week's cease-fire, but the Saigon government ordered only a 24-hour stand-down because the Viet Cong had shattered its own cease-fire in 1967 with the biggest enemy offensive of the war. After the cease-fire last year, U.S. spokesmen said there had been no appreciable drop in enemy activity during the week.

Agnew Makes Headway in Telling Asia About the U.S. Doctrine

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer
BANGKOK (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew appears to be making headway in communicating a clearer definition of the Nixon Doctrine to the leaders of U.S. allies in Asia.

Conversations with diplomats and members of the vice presidential party indicate Agnew is off to a good start as a presidential emissary.

One of the main reasons for his 11-nation Asian tour was to clear up misunderstandings about the policy President Nixon outlined last July in Guam, a policy combining a U.S. pledge to meet its treaty commitments and provide a nuclear shield for America's Asian allies, while at the same time emphasizing Asian self-reliance.

Agnew today completed the first part of his trip and flew to neutralist Nepal after visits to four firm U.S. allies—the Philippines, South Vietnam, Nationalist China and Thailand.

In each country, government leaders questioned him closely about what the United States is See AGNEW MAKES (on page two)

Shooting of Black Panthers Under Probe

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Two unidentified Negroes were shot to death during a police chase here late Sunday night after officers said they saw three Negroes setting fire to a downtown radio station and a store.

Two other Negroes were arrested and charged with arson, and Asst. Police Chief E. P. Brown said one of them told officers he is a Black Muslim commando.

Brown said cruising officers saw three Negroes set fire to the front of radio station WRMA and the nearby E. E. Forbes Piano Co. on Commerce Street, and the entrances to the buildings "were in flames."

The assistant chief said the three Negroes ran in to a waiting car, driven by a fourth Negro, and fled. He said police opened fire after the Negroes ignored commands to halt.

When the pursuing officers finally overtook the car, Brown said, two of the Negroes had been fatally wounded by police gunfire.

Brown said one of the Negroes taken into custody gave the name of Ronald Dorsey, 24, of New York City and identified himself as a member of "the Community Commando Faction of the Black Muslim organization."

The other Negro arrested was a 16-year-old boy, also from New York, Brown said. Police declined to identify him because he is a juvenile. Dorsey is being held under $25,000 bond, the officer said. The other Negro was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Fighting Is Revived in Vietnam

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — Government infantrymen and U.S. Marines operating in South Vietnam's northern provinces clashed with enemy troops twice Sunday following a flurry of enemy attacks in the area Saturday night. South Vietnamese troops fought a third battle in the Mekong Delta.

The U.S. Command reported that marines and enemy troops exchanged rifle and machine-gun fire 24 miles south of Da Nang. One Marine was killed and five wounded in the brief fight, and enemy losses were unknown.

South Vietnamese communiques claimed 17 North Vietnamese soldiers were killed by the government's highly rated 1st Infantry Division in a battle about five miles below the demilitarized zone.

Eighteen Viet Cong were reported killed by government troops in scattered fighting along the banks of the Mekong River 80 miles southwest of Saigon.

Field reports said two government soldiers were killed and 41 wounded in the two battles.

The U.S. Command reported 10 enemy rocket and mortar attacks during the night, but said only four of them caused casualties or damage.

Three South Vietnamese civilians were killed and seven wounded when three mortar shells fell into the market place of Ben Cat, about 25 miles north of Saigon.

Military spokesmen said 28 allied troops and civilians were killed and another 103 wounded in more than a score of rocket, mortar and ground attacks Saturday night and Sunday morning.

The U.S. Command reported "a significant increase in enemy activity" in the northern provinces of Quang Nam, where half the attacks took place. Quang Nam includes Da Nang, South Vietnam's second largest city.

Communiques reported seven U.S. troops dead and 25 wounded. Eighteen South Vietnamese civilians and one government soldier were killed and 78 civilians wounded. Almost all the civilian victims lived in two refugee camps shelled by the enemy, spokesmen said.

Thinks Courts May Be Prison Reform Answer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Corrections Commissioner C. Robert Sarver says it may take court action to reform the nation's prisons.

Sarver said in a speech Saturday to the Arkansas Association of Women Lawyers that he didn't like for the federal courts to tell the states what to do, but if it takes a court order to make them take action he's for it.

He said there had been no real landmark court decisions on prison administration. Sarver said the nation's prisons were at about the point now where mental health institutions were 30 years ago when they were called "snake pits."

"People now recognize that those with mental illness are human beings, but it may take some court action to reform prisons," he said.

The commissioner said Arkansas' prison system was in a "desperate situation" because of a lack of money.

"I don't think there's a good prison anywhere," he said. "Conditions in prisons in other states are atrocious to the point they make Arkansas look meek, but they have enough money to hide it."

Baylor Coach Hopes Forecast Is Just Right

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
Associated Press Writer

For once, Baylor head basketball coach Bill Menefee hopes his season forecasters are right. The Bears are traditionally picked to finish near the bottom of the SWC final standings. And traditionally, the Bears have finished second or third in the past five years.

So this season, Baylor was picked as a outside contender and the pollsters couldn't have picked a better time to get on the Baylor bandwagon.

The Bears attracted national attention by upsetting nationally third-ranked New Mexico State for the Cowboy Classic championship at Abilene and last Friday upended previously unbeaten Wyoming for a 7-3 overall record.

Baylor finds out what its early surge means tonight when the Bears tangle with Texas in the first SWC game of the season. "We've been getting some balanced scoring," said Menefee. "Our game with Wyoming is a good example. We got 22 from (Tom) Friedman, 25 from (Larry) Gatewood, 17 from (William) Chatman and 16 from (Tommy) Bowman."

Menefee said the addition of Chatman, a Tyler Junior College transfer, had "been a big shot in the arm for us. He has scored very well, and given us some needed rebounding strength."

The Longhorns, picked in one poll to win it all, enter the game with a 5-5 record, but also have provided the shocker—a 73-65 upset of fifth-ranked Ohio University last week.

The Bears should have a pretty good idea of where they stand by week's end. After meeting the Longhorns tonight, they play defending SWC champion Texas A&M (5-4) Saturday at College Station.

Two other SWC games are scheduled this week including A&M at Arkansas on Tuesday, and Arkansas at Texas on Saturday. California at Santa Barbara plays at Texas Tech tonight in a non-conference game.

The SWC was shut out in three games Saturday night. Fourth-ranked North Carolina downed Rice (3-5), 98-72; Texas Tech (5-4) lost to Wyoming 63-62 on a last-second shot; and Texas Christian (2-6) lost to Southern Illinois 75-63.

Menefee thinks the early showing by SWC teams indicates a close run for the title. "The coaches think this race is going to be closer than the sports writers do," Menefee said. "Unless the coaches talk differently when they are by themselves, most think five or six teams could win it."

"Right now, I don't know of any team on our conference schedule we couldn't lose to. But by the same token, I don't know of any team we couldn't beat with a good effort."

Lamonica's Hand Injury Stops Raiders

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer

OAKLAND (AP) — "I thought I'd broken it," said Darryle Lamonica.

He hadn't, but he might as well have.

The Oakland Raider quarterback injured his right hand during Kansas City's 17-7 victory over the Raiders for the American Football League championship Sunday and though it wasn't enough to keep him out of the game it was enough to cause him to throw three interceptions in the final period, ending the Raiders' hopes.

"I hurt the hand on (Kansas City) defensive end) Aaron Brown's back mask or helmet on the follow-through after a pass," said Lamonica in the silent Raiders' dressing room. "I jammed three fingers."

"I didn't lose the authority, but I didn't have the zing on my follow-through."

Coach John Madden wouldn't use the injury as an alibi.

"Of course it hurt us," the rookie coach said, "but the last thing we'd do is make excuses."

The Raiders had used five interceptions of Len Dawson passes to beat the Chiefs earlier this season, but it was those late turnovers, all of which came deep in Kansas City territory with the Chiefs leading by just a touchdown, that undid Oakland.

"The turnovers were the difference," said a jubilant Hank Stram, coach of the Chiefs. "Our defense did a fantastic job for us, especially in pressure situations."

Madden agreed, saying: "We just didn't take advantage of the opportunities that we got. We just didn't capitalize on our breaks. In a championship game, you've got to take the opportunities when they present themselves and we just didn't."

Lamonica was dumped four times by a Kansas City defense that hadn't bothered him much the first two games between the two clubs that Oakland won.

"Lamonica is a very deliberate thrower. He doesn't get the ball off quickly like a Namath. We felt we had to try to change his tempo by putting on the pressure."

IRS Studies Money Used by Oil Firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — A major oil company's expenses in fighting the recently enacted tax reform bill have come under scrutiny of the Internal Revenue Service.

The IRS action results from a complaint by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who contended Shell Oil Co. forced its employees to attend "brain-washing" sessions giving the company's view of oil depletion and oil imports.

Proxmire said he expected Shell would try to deduct the cost of the sessions—which he termed lobbying—as business expenses. He said this clearly would be in violation of tax codes.

In a letter made public by Proxmire, the Internal Revenue service wrote him: "The facts . . . are not sufficiently detailed to form the basis of any firm conclusion on the matter. However, we agree with you that if these activities do in fact constitute lobbying within the meaning of the applicable statute, the fact that the lobbying is directed to employees would not convert it to a deductible expenditure."

The IRS added that the complaint requires a finding of act and the matter is being referred to the district director having jurisdiction over Shell.

When asked for comment, a Shell executive referred to a statement issued by the company when Proxmire made the complaint in October. The company responded then:

"Because of the present number of issues of extraordinary importance which could substantially affect the oil business, and the people who work in it, we felt it desirable to acquaint our employees with our views on these issues. We believe that we have a right and, indeed, a duty to do so."

The tax reform bill, signed into law Tuesday by President Nixon, included numerous provisions which the oil industry vigorously opposed.

It lowered the mineral depletion allowance from 27 1/2 to 10 per cent, applied a new 10 per cent income tax to otherwise sheltered earnings and knocked out other tax benefits by holding production payments to be loans instead of income.

Proxmire has also complained to IRS about the activities of seven other oil companies against the new tax bill.

These companies—whose officials, Proxmire said, contacted employees or stockholders suggesting they write friends and congressmen—are Texaco, Cities Service, Phillips Petroleum, Mobil Oil, Sun Oil, Conoco and Standard Oil.

Officers Are Hit by Black Militants

By WILLIAM BARTON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Black extremists made more than 100 attacks in the past six months on the nation's police officers, FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover reported today.

In a year-end report on FBI activities during 1969, Hoover said at least seven policemen died and more than 120 others were injured in combat with militant Negro groups.

He released no figures on the number of Negroes killed in the skirmishes.

But he said "extremist-all-Negro, hate-type organizations, such as the Black Panther Party, continued to fan the flames of riot and revolution" during the year.

"Many of these groups, whose leaders preach violence and hatred of the white race, have been involved in shootouts with local police," he said.

"Many attacks on police by black extremists," he added, "are unprovoked and nothing more than planned ambushes."

Although Hoover did not mention it, Black Panther leaders have accused the Justice Department, and the FBI, of taking part in an organized national campaign to destroy the group. The department officially denied it.

While condemning black extremists, Hoover also predicted "an upsurge in recruiting activity" by the Ku Klux Klan in the wake of the release from prison of Robert M. Shelton, Imperial wizard of the United Klans of America.

Shelton was freed last month after serving a federal prison term for contempt of Congress.

Hoover contended there was a marked shift during 1969 in the so-called New Left movement, with many groups now advocating "violent revolution."

Referring to the students for a Democratic Society, Hoover said all of its factions support "the concept of a Marxist-Leninist revolutionary group dedicated to the violent overthrow of the United States government."

He singled out the Weatherman faction of SDS as a particularly violent element that seeks "to establish itself in the vanguard of the revolutionary movement by engaging in terroristic tactics."

And he said the SDS was largely responsible for student unrest during the past year on the nation's college campuses.

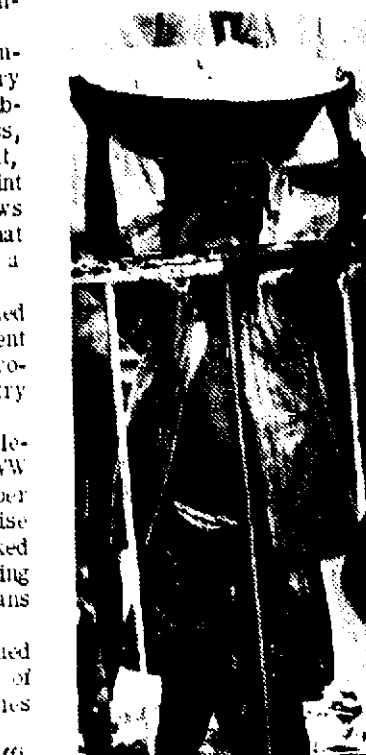

Those disturbances, he said, resulted in more than 4,000 arrests, more than $3 million in damage, one death and more than 125 injuries at more than 225 college campuses during the 1968-69 school year.

"Continuing the trend," he said, "the current school year has seen approximately 215 demonstrations thus far, including 24 sit-ins or building seizures."

Hoover listed 16 incidents of arson on campuses, two bombings, more than 350 arrests and 33 police officers injured in the school year that began last September.

In discussing the anti-war movement, Hoover charged that "a number of individuals" on the steering committee of the New Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam "are, or have been affiliated with old-line communist groups." He named only Arnold Johnson, public relations director for the Communist Party, USA.

Moreover, he said, those individuals are "coordinating their activities with international Communist elements."

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q I'm a full-time college student and think I will get a tax refund, if I don't have to count a $750 scholarship as income. Is it income?

A Scholarships are generally not taxable and do not have to be reported for tax purposes. Since there are many different types of scholarships, you will want to check with the organization that gave you the scholarship to see if they have information on its tax status.

Q Why did IRS drop the short form 1040A?

A One important reason was to make it easier for taxpayers to claim all the credits, deductions and exclusions they were entitled to under the tax laws. In recent years more and more taxpayers have found it to their advantage to itemize deductions as their income increased.

The new Form 1040 is one basic page and actually calls for just about the same information that had to be entered on the front and back of the old card form. Over 30 million returns will need just the one-page Form 1040 to be complete, while another 22 million will have to attach only one additional schedule.

May Decide to Play on Jr. College Team

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — Two Fort Smith Northside High School football stars may elect to attend junior college this fall rather than accept playing scholarships at major schools.

Running backs Billy Joe Relaford and Robert Owens are giving serious consideration to the idea, their coach, Bill Stancil, said Saturday.

Stancil, who is becoming the Fort Smith public school's athletic director, said that since NCAA scholastic requirements are becoming tougher the Northside coaches suggested that Relaford and Owens enter a junior college first, improve their scholastic background and later enroll in a major college.

The junior college mentioned in their consideration is Northeast Oklahoma Junior College.

Copies of the schedules taxpayers will most likely need were included in the tax package mailed to some 75 million taxpayers.

Q I got married in December. Can my wife and I file a joint return for 1969?

A Yes, if you are married on the last day of your tax year, you can file a joint return. Your wife then cannot be claimed as a dependent on the return of another taxpayer.

Q Does the new tax form make any difference in the way a farmer handles his credit for gas used on the farm?

A No, the gas tax credit should be claimed as it has in the past by attaching Form 4136. The amount of credit claimed should be entered on line 21 of Form 1040.

Q What is the surcharge rate for 1969 and how do you figure it?

A The income tax surcharge is 10 percent for 1969. Tax surcharge tables are included in the tax packages and can be found on page T-1. These tables show the amount of surcharge based on the amount of tax liability and your filing status.

Remember that Schedule T, the tax computation schedule, will be just a worksheet for most taxpayers and need not be sent in with the Form 1040. Only if the taxpayer claims a Q I rent out some land to a farmer nearby. Do I include the rents I receive as farm or rental income?

Unless there is material participation in the business of farming, the rents you receive are not considered farm income.

Q Are there any tax benefits for those 65 and over? I'll be able to file that way this year.

A Yes, there are several benefits for those 65 years of age and over. For example, there is an extra $600 exemption for age, and special provisions covering the sale of a personal residence.

These are explained in Publication 554, Tax Benefits for Older Americans. Send a post card to your District Director for a free copy.

Why Do You Have A Poor Memory?

A noted publisher in Chicago reports there is a simple technique for acquiring a powerful memory which can pay you real dividends in both business and social advancement and works like magic to give you added poise, necessary self-confidence and greater popularity.

According to this publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by remembering accurately everything they see, hear, or read. Whether in business, at social functions or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances, there are ways in which you can dominate each situation by your ability to remember.

To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in remembering anything you choose to remember, the publishers have printed full details of their self-training method in a new booklet, "Adventures in Memory," which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. No obligation. Send your name, address, and zip code to: Memory Studies, 835 Diversey Pkwy., Dept. 295-511, Chicago, Ill. 60614. A post card will do.

Income Tax Form Regulations Changed This Year

By RAY DE CRANE
Distributed by Enterprise Press

Congress got all the headlines last year because of the hearings on the Tax Reform Bill, but the big income tax news that will affect your filing of a 1969 return was made by Internal Revenue Service.

You may not have read too much about the IRS action but it was a drastic overhaul of the tax forms you'll use this year.

Form 1040-A, the computer-card which was used as the quick and easy way of filing a tax return by 19,000,000 people last year, is no more. It has been eliminated.

This year there is no choice of forms. Everybody will use a Form 1040.

Because of its compact size, Form 1040-A offered no opportunity to itemize deductions or to claim special credits. As a result, IRS has become convinced, some users of the short form return needlessly overpaid on their tax.

The new arrangement is designed to put everybody on an equal footing and to open the door to tax-saving opportunities to everyone.

IRS calls its new system the "building-block technique."

Everyone starts with the basic Form 1040, which is now a one-page return. Then you add supplements to your Form 1040 as your individual circumstances require.

There are 10 supplements, or schedules, so some taxpayers will be required to file as many as 11 forms this year to complete their return. But for nearly 50 per cent of all filers, IRS believes that basic Form 1040, alone, is all that will be required.

But simply because so many of the forms are new, and all of them have been redesigned, first-year errors are certain to be made unless instructions are carefully followed.

In this series of 14 articles, of which this is the first, the new rules and the new forms will be explained. In addition, simple, easy-to-understand instructions will be given on the rules for claiming dependents, for sick pay, moving expenses, employee business expense deductions and a host of other pertinent tax problems.

If you want all the information in this series plus a good deal more in a compact book with completely filled-in sample forms, obtain a copy of the completely revised 1970 edition of "Cut Your Own Taxes," available through this newspaper.

(NEXT: A peek at some of the new forms.)

MONEY CLIPS

by Mort Reed

Of all of the questions directed to this column, the following were asked most often—and since they may come up again in 1970 they bear reprinting.

Q—I have an 1867 five-cent piece in used condition and my brother has one with the same date in uncirculated condition, but there are rays in between each star on his coin and none on mine. Which one is counterfeit?

A—Probably neither. The 1866 nickel with rays on the reverse was also minted for a short period in 1867, but the design was not well accepted by the public and later in that same year the rays were removed.

Q—Why did they discontinue the flag pole on the dome of Monticello—Jefferson's home on the reverse of the nickel?

A—There is no flag pole on Monticello—either on the building itself or its likeness on the Jefferson nickel. What you may be referring to is a die-break running from the dome to the upper rim on the wartime nickel issued at San Francisco. It runs directly through the large letter S causing it to appear as a dollar sign or as a flag pole.

Q—Isn't it true that the so-called wartime nickels issued between 1942 and 1945 were actually silver-plated? I have seen some showing this plate partially peeled away.

A—During World War II, silver was considered scarce material and the five-cent piece from 1942 to 1945 was issued in an alloy of 56 per cent copper, 35 per cent silver and 9 per cent manganese. The "peeling" was due to a lamination effect resulting from poor homogenization in the melt.

Q—I have a silver 1943 Lincoln cent. What is it worth?

A—There were no copper or silver Lincoln cents issued by the mint in 1943. A few copper planchets did slip through from the 1942 issue but most are accounted for. Silver cents bearing that date—unless stamped on a dime planchet—were fabricated outside of authorized minting facilities and are considered unlawful.

Q—Now that silver content coins have been discontinued where can they be sold at a profit and how is this profit determined? Is it true the government will redeem these coins at the going price for silver?

A—Let's take that question one part at a time. First, there are several firms over the country offering up to 15 per cent over face value for all coins with a 90 per cent silver content but they will not accept small lots and the seller must pay the shipping costs and insurance fees. Since the Treasury lifted the melting ban silver coins are disappearing almost as fast as they were minted and if it continues for another six months, a coin with a market value of 15 per cent will be worth 10 times that amount in five years.

In response to the last part of the question, no—absolutely not. The government will accept discontinued coinage at face value only—and then only through the Federal Reserve banks.

Timely Quotes

Does a bear like to eat in the woods?

—Reply of Cleveland Indian manager Joe Adcock to whether he had considered switching slugging outfielder Rocky Colavito to first base.

It seems to me that someone must make up a forecast in the afternoon, then go to bed and hope they're right.

—New York City traffic commissioner Henry A. Barnes, lamenting the Weather Bureau's failure to predict three heavy snowstorms.

There is no question but that the demonstrators have done a great deal to awaken many indifferent students to the great problems.

—Dr. E. G. Williamson, University of Minnesota dean of students, comparing today's collegians to the so-called silent generation of the '40s and '50s.

I'm an Irishman. They wouldn't let me in the Cosa Nostra—if there is one.

—Thomas T. Gleason, president of the International Longshoremen's Association, denying allegations that the union has crime syndicate tie-ins.

Letters to Laugh In Gets Dear John Note

By DICK KLEINER
NEA Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — "Something interesting just happened," said Gary Owens. "We were canceled."

He was talking about his daytime show, Letters to Laugh-In—not Laugh-In, of course. He thinks Letters was successful but fell victim to the crossfire between NBC and Laugh-In's producers.

GARY OWENS
Caught in the crossfire.

Anyway, he isn't hurting. He's still the busiest man alive. He is (a) probably the most successful disc jockey in Los Angeles, and he just signed a new three-year contract "for a lot of money." (b) a busy voice-over guy, doing such things as The Perils of Penelope Pitstop and records and cartoons; (c) a record producer; (d) a screenplay writer; (e) a book writer; (f) a very busy banquet master of ceremonies; and (g) a husband and father.

It's a good life for a kid from South Dakota. It may even be a "gooder" life. They want him to do a pilot film with him playing a Harold Lloyd figure who keeps getting into trouble.

After years of visual anonymity, Laugh-In has made him famous.

"I guess that's what we're all in it for," he says. "I must admit I like it. But it does cut down on what you can do—I couldn't go to see 'I Am Curious (Yellow)' now."

It's a small sacrifice.

By BOB COCHNAR
NEA Automotive Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—There are a number of very good arguments to be made for doing Christmas shopping some time after Christmas, especially if you haven't had the time to do it before the Great Day.

Ever try to squeeze along book counters, racks and shelves in early December? One does not leisurely stroll through bookstores, hoping to discover a brilliant new book which doubles as a neat gift for a motorsports fan (after, of course, the buyer is through reading it).

This year's crop of automotive books does contain a number of full-blooded horrors but if you search long enough you can find those rare volumes. The following are among them:

VR000M! by Peter Manso (Funk & Wagnalls, $8.95). Although it is far too much money to pay for any book, it may almost be worth it. Manso grabbed a tape recorder and interviewed 10 Formula 1 champions, including Dan Gurney, Bruce McLaren, Stirling Moss, John Surtees and Jackie Stewart.

The interviews are penetrating and revealing. Manso was able to cut through the stiff facades of the drivers and discover what may be the real people.

From Stewart: "I was trapped in the car for some 35 minutes, the petrol tanks were ruptured so that the monocoque, being like a bath, filled up with 32 gallons of petrol."

"The thing was just rolling around like a tub completely filled, with me lying in it. We couldn't get the electric switches off because the dashboard had been destroyed. The electric pumps were going, the power was still on so the fire risk was enormous. The fumes were occasionally getting me unconscious and then I would come back again. I was getting gasoline burns because gasoline takes off your skin if you're submerged in it for any length of time."

cuit. Not too much nuts-and-bolts here, fortunately; the author concentrates on the human aspects of motor racing.

THE SEBRING STORY, by Alec Uimann (Chilton, $5.95). Alec Uimann and Sebring are as inseparable as Mercedes and Benz or Rolls and Royce. Consequently, his book is somewhat subjective. Although Sebring is not all that Uimann would like it to be (a ratty track in central Florida it happens to be), the story is still interesting.

After all, he did discover the place and, practically without help, made it well-known.

JIM CLARK, PORTRAIT OF A GREAT DRIVER (Aero, $3.95). This book of reminiscences by several of Clark's friends including Graham Hill, Jackie Stewart, Colin Chapman and John Surtees. Although published last year, it's still in print and an excellent memorial to one of the finest drivers of all time. The royalties go to the Jim Clark Foundation.

A JOB WITH A FUTURE IN AUTOMOTIVE MECHANICS, by J. Robert Connor (Grossart & Dunlap, $3.59). Bob Connor's book is not exactly a gift item but still an important addition to automotive literature. There is a critical need for young men who want to become expert mechanics. The pay is good and the future is rosy. Connor surveys the marketplace succinctly.

FORD: THE DUST AND THE GLORY, by Leo Levine (McGraw-Hill, $10.95). This book, too, has been out for about a year but it's still available. Levine has done a wondrous job of compiling a first-class history of Ford's racing efforts since Henry the First scorched the Michigan tracks. It probably tells more than even Fordophiles want to know but it's marvelously written and the pictures are great.

A year ago we came up with this crazy bunch of letters which stand for our motto—We May Be The Only Phone Company in Town, But We Try Not To Act Like It.

Some folks thought we were just trying to be funny, but we were dead serious about the motto the letters stood for. We still are.

Communications is our business

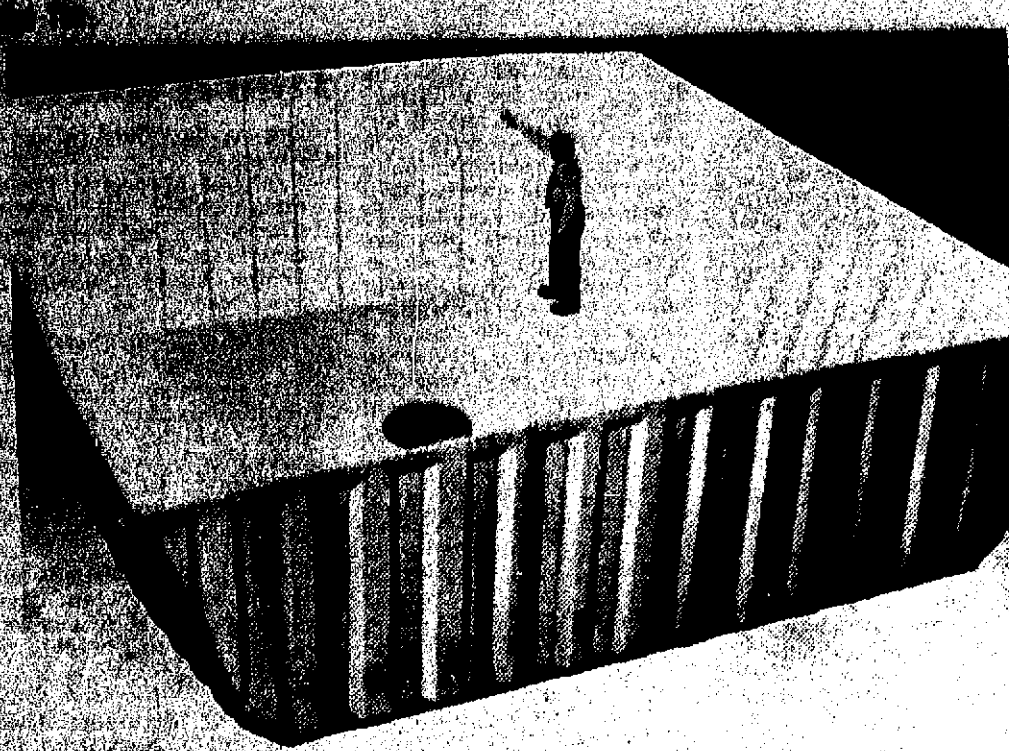

—our only business. That is why we at Southwestern Bell can devote all of our energy, our talents, our knowledge and resources to providing you with the very best in communications service at the lowest possible cost.

We encourage you to take for granted the world's best telephone service, with the assurance that we won't.

STEFAM BATH softens wood so it doesn't crack or break in bending. These sticks have already had main bends. Handles are being steamed for straightening.

GOING DOWN THE DRAIN? It looks like a man in a sink, but he's actually examining a one-piece fiberglass-reinforced plastic fish hold. The 2,000-cubic-foot hold reportedly is impervious to fish acids and fluids and insures a fresh catch. It will be used in an all-fiberglass shrimp trawler now in production.

TIEDE

By TOM TIEDE
NEA Staff Correspondent

BEN CAT, South Vietnam —(NEA)—For nearly a decade this steamy little village belonged to the enemy. At will, Viet Cong taxed, conscripted and terrorized the population.

But no more. The last time the VC came here, they were greeted not with docility—but with small arms fire from sandbag bunkers. The Communists tried once, twice, three and four times to penetrate—but were eventually beaten back into the jungles.

And who were the defending heroes of Ben Cat? Not U.S. troops. Not even Vietnamese troops.

But children. Sixteen- and 17-year-old kids who have grouped to protect their homes and families at any cost.

The improbable warriors are part of an equally improbable civilian army now building in this country. It's called the People's Self Defense Force. And it's the most ragtag, ruffled but altogether encouraging military establishment in the war.

PSDF, as it's initialed, is an outgrowth of Vietnam's

"general mobilization law" which requires all healthy citizens, 16 to 50 years old, to serve in some kind of federal armed force.

Regular services, of course, snap up the best of this age group. The irregular forces (regional units, mercenary bands, paramilitary groups) grab the next best on the list.

And everybody else goes to the PSDF.

"Everybody else" makes up a sundry lot. Women with suckling infants. Old men bleary-eyed with opium smoke. Teen-age couples who kiss and cuddle before guard duty—and, if possible, during guard duty.

They are far from professional. But when it comes to defending what belongs to them, few combatants are superior to these aroused citizen-soldiers.

The other day, a band of VC tried to murder a nearby hamlet chief in his bed. The hamlet's PSDF was incensed. It gathered, made a plan, ambushed the startled Communists, then chased them, for three miles before cooling down.

Now the hamlet chief sleeps in peace. At present, there are almost three million of these PSDF members in Vietnam. More than a million are fighters. In all they comprise about 18 per cent of the nation's population. More than one-third of the force are boys, 16 and 17 years old. Another third are women. The rest are men either too old for the regular army, or retired or disabled from it.

Women are not required to be fighters. But more than 170,000 of them, all ages, have volunteered for armed use. And some of the girls regularly notch rifles with VC kills.

Snickers one: "We used to sleep with them when they came here. Now we try to shoot them. We prefer our own men instead."

To do their shooting, the PSDF members are armed with a variety of primitive, hand-me-down weapons. Some old Garand rifles, some World War II carbines and some captured Chinese and Russian implements. Currently, there is only one weapon available for every five PSDF members. But the empty hands usually carry clubs, scythes, axes or whatever else makes do. As old or as crude as the weapons may be, they work. Citizens of the PSDF have reportedly killed 3,000 enemy soldiers.

At least one with a pitchfork.

For these efforts, members of the People's Self Defense Force get little in return. They are neither paid; uniformed nor fed. They are expected to be on call 24 hours a day, but if their crops or businesses suffer, the expense is theirs alone.

In a few cases, this lack of compensation has caused troubles. Low morale and shoot-em-ups. Some units have wounded more of themselves than the enemy. Other units have turned into worse profit-milking terrorists than the VC have ever been.

But everything considered, the polyglot citizen-soldiers are a remarkable bunch. Kids. Women. Old men. And here, after two long decades of war, after one million deaths and five times as many casualties, they finally get together themselves to help put an end to the slaughter.

THOUGHTS

"Therefore do not be anxious about tomorrow, for tomorrow will be anxious for itself. Let the day's own trouble be sufficient for the day."—Matthew 6:34.

Seize the present moment, and trust as little as possible to the morrow.—Horace, poet of ancient Rome.
